Greetings from CETL!
We have spent the summer collaborating with other offices, planning for on-campus professional development opportunities for the 2022-2023 academic year. Please peruse the new offerings below, including the New Faculty Institute, Advanced Pedagogies Workshops, REI Workshops, and Partners in Peer Review. Check out the CETL website: https://cetl.cofc.edu, and email me with your questions. I look forward to working with you all on campus!

Margaret Hagood
Director, CETL
Hagoodm@cofc.edu

CETL 2022-2023 YEARLONG WORKSHOP SERIES

- New Faculty Institute (NFI): The Science and Art of Teaching and Learning
  Following a one-day New Faculty Orientation, the New Faculty Institute (NFI) will provide monthly professional development sessions to assist new faculty in developing and honing instruction using research-based pedagogies and connecting to campus resources. These hour-long sessions will also provide new faculty opportunities to get to know one another and to collaborate across disciplines. These sessions are appropriate for anyone in their first three years of teaching. Please see the CETL calendar with sessions marked NFI for upcoming workshops.

- Advanced Pedagogies Workshops (APW)
  For mid-career and senior faculty, CETL will offer Advanced Pedagogy Workshops (APW), providing content and resources that help seasoned faculty sharpen their skills and freshen up their teaching and learning endeavors. Faculty will receive a monthly email, providing faculty access to a 20-minute overview of the session topic. Faculty can gain valuable information and ideas from these videos. CETL, in collaboration with other offices, will offer an in-person follow-up session for faculty to collaborate and discuss the topic’s application to their own instruction at The College. Please see the CETL calendar with sessions marked APW for upcoming workshops.

CETL PARTNERS IN PEER REVIEW

CETL will train a senior faculty member (tenured professor or senior instructor) from each school to provide faculty with an opportunity to request a research-based peer review of instruction. This review process is focused on individual faculty growth to inspire teaching and to benefit students. Peer review and feedback are private. Faculty members will individually choose how to use the peer evaluation to support their teaching and learning progress.

REI INITIATIVE

- REI Requirement
  Exciting news! The REI proposal has been submitted to CHE, and we are planning for the two-course REI requirement to come into effect in Fall 2023. We still need more REI-designated approved courses to ensure that students do not encounter any difficulty fulfilling the requirement.
If you are working on a new course proposal or on tweaking an existing course and would like assistance, please email Simon Lewis (lewiss@cofc.edu), call (843-953-1920), or drop by (Rm 102, 26 Glebe Street).

- REI Advisory Committee
  Simon is assembling an advisory committee comprising members from each of the College’s various schools and from the College Libraries.
  This committee will work with CETL, OID, TLT, MSPS, the College Libraries and other appropriate groups to coordinate calendars of events and caches of teaching resources.

Visit the REI tab on the CETL website at https://cetl.cofc.edu/about/index.php. Please take a look at the page and forward any updates, comments, and the like to Simon at lewiss@cofc.edu.

AUGUST EVENTS

Wed., Aug. 24, 3:00-4:00 Addlestone 227
CETL NFI: Building Classroom Community and Belonging (with Dr. Charissa Owens, Director of Diversity Education & Training [OID]; Rachael McNamara, MA [Student Wellness and Well-Being], Anne Osowski, M.Ed., Director [CDS], and Jess Zuber, MS, Director, Center for Academic Performance & Persistence)

SEPTEMBER EVENTS

Tues., Sept. 6, 3:15-4:30 Addlestone 360
REI Initiative information session
Director Simon Lewis will provide an overview of the REI proposal requirement, explain his overall vision for the initiative, outline this year’s plans, and describe a typical year’s programming.

Th., Sept. 8, 3:00-4:00 Addlestone 227
CETL NFI: Developing your Research Agenda (with Susan Anderson, Director ORGA, and Dr. Morgan Hughley, co-chair of the Faculty Research and Development committee)

Wed., Sept. 14, 3:00-4:00 Addlestone 227
CETL APW: How Can I Engage Generation C? (with Dr. Chris Korey, Associate Provost for Student Success, and Dr. Alicia Caudill, Executive Vice President for Student Affairs)

Mon., Sept. 26, 3:00-4:00 Addlestone 227
CETL APW: How do I Support First-Gen College Students? (with Dr. Anthony Greene, Director of African American Studies)

Th., Sept. 29, 3:00-4:00 Addlestone 227
CETL NFI: Active Learning & Student Engagement (with TLT Instructional Technologists and Lindy Coleman, Director of CSL and Abe Saunders, Associate Director of CSL)

RESOURCES

- REI LibGuide (curated by Amanda Kraft and Gretchen Scronce)

- TLT: August Resources for Building Community and Belonging
IN THE COMMUNITY

Sept. 15
Deadline for Fulbright U.S. Scholars Program 2023-2024

Thursday-Saturday, Sept. 8, 2022-Sept. 10, 2022
CLAW Program/Slave Dwelling Project conference on the Stono Rebellion
(https://slavedwellingproject.org/sdp-conference/)